

Two Hands Dancing The quickstep in copywriting - Fast... and Sticky

After a whirlwind visit to the US, Two Hands Dancing's Chief Copywriter returns to Australia after participating in DC Cordova's Money and You™ program.

The program, established back in the 70s on principles learned from W. Edward Deming and R. Buckminster Fuller, is one of the leading experiential seminars in the world today.

Terri was offered the chance to attend the seminar in San Diego, California on February 21 this year, thanks to Carol Dysart, a client of Terri's through Two Hands Dancing. Arriving at LAX only days before the 3.5 day seminar, Terri was the "token Aussie" (and very much welcomed) at the seminar whose famous attendees have included Robert Kiyosaki, Tony Robbins, as well as Jack Canfield and Mark Victor Hansen of the "Chicken Soup for the Soul" series.

Being experiential means this is no "sit and listen" seminar, and is certainly NOT for the faint-hearted. The information is taught through participation, and uses accelerated learning principles, games and very compassionate and empathic listening and sharing across the entire event, to impart some of the greatest information about money, psychology, belief systems and self awareness.

The days are long, and the information can at times be overwhelming. Tears and revelations are not uncommon and some incredible bonds of friendship are a most definite outcome.

DC Cordova is the CEO of the foundational Excellerated Business School which has presented Money and You across the globe in over a dozen countries. DC is a world-class leader in global education and her mission is to ensure the transformational education methods taught through her business school can be introduced to the traditional education system, empowering young people about money, business and how to achieve success for themselves and pay it forward to support the globe.

Terri's experience at Money and You was very powerful, and she learned a lot about her own beliefs.

"I highly recommend Money and You to every person on the planet. There can only be positive to come from it. It really requires your total participation to get the most of out of it. For those in business, it will certainly inspire, motivate and encourage."

To learn more about Money and You, visit www.excellerated.com and use the drop-down box under the "excellerated programs" on the top left to select Money and You.